Whale Watching with Captain Kerry

This is a nature-based experience that your family will never forget. Your captain for this 5.5-hour sail, Captain Kerry, is recognised as the only female captain to own and operate a whale watching venture in the South Pacific rim. Captain Kerry knows all the best spots, so it won't be long before you witness these majestic creatures breaching high out of the water, slapping their tails, or waving their fins, which we like to think is them waving hello to us! Ensure your phone and camera batteries are charged to capture these incredible moments. Every passenger will also receive a gourmet picnic lunch box. Tours are run daily from July to November from 9.30am-3pm. If you're visiting outside of whale season, an alternative day tour option is with Dolphin Wild Island Cruises - for an eco-safari snorkel tour to the Tangalooma Wrecks on Moreton Island.

Kids will have a blast pretending they are pirates or mermaids in this 95m tropical seafront pool, which is a popular spot for families. The lagoon features sandy bays, different wading zones - catering to all swimming abilities - an island in the centre of the lagoon, and a miniature river and riverbed, where kids can splash around to their heart's content. If you have little ones, there is also a separate fenced off pool area with mushroom fountains and squirting lizards. The lagoon is open all year round (what's winter?) to enjoy a paddle and splash. Afterwards, you only need to cross the road to head back to your room to freshen up.

Held every weekend along the picturesque Redcliffe Peninsula, this iconic seaside marketplace is a Sunday institution with locals and visitors alike. With so much to see and do, you won't know where to begin. Kids can start off by getting their face painted, then pat the farmyard animals at the petting zoo, sing and dance along with the buskers and professional musicians or bounce as high as they can in the jumping castle. With more than 230 stalls to browse, the markets are a great place for adults to find themselves a bargain, and for the kids to spend their remaining pocket money. There are stalls for fashion, jewellery, homewares, fresh produce, meats and more, as well as an array of delicious food trucks and vendors serving up a variety of delicacies. As a bonus, you don't have to worry about parking, as you can simply walk from your hotel.

Will they roam the high seas or take part in a train robbery? Only they can answer that question.
